OCTOBER PROGRAM

JOYCE KRAWIEC, GRASSROOTS ACTIVIST

Joyce began her involvement with the NC Federation of Republican Women when she joined the Forsyth County Republican Women, holding several offices before being elected president. Under her guidance, membership was increased and became known as the true workers in the party. Joyce was named the FCRW Tribute Honoree in 2003 and has served on the NCFRW as the Central Region VP and helped charter other clubs. While she was Legislative Chairman, she kept the members informed with alerts of pressing issues in both NC and the US. She was honored by the party when she was chosen to co-chair the Bush Campaign in 2000. Because of her activism, Joyce was invited to the first RNC Women's Summit in 2009. It has been written that Joyce Krawiec is the ideal grassroots activist. She is relentless in her pursuit of good government and is motivated in her tireless efforts by her love of God and country. Her contagious positive attitude encourages many to join her. Joyce believes in making a difference.....and she does.

IT'S TIME TO TAKE BACK OUR COUNTRY WAKE UP REPUBLICANS

This will be one of the most important elections of our lifetime. We must elect a Conservative Republican Congress and a Republican majority in the NC State Legislature. We must return our Nation and our State to core Republican values of limited government, lower taxes, and responsible spending. As Ronald Reagan once said "It is rather to make government work with us, not over us; to stand by our side, not ride on our back. Government can and must provide opportunity, not smother it; foster productivity, not stifle it." Despite the White House goal to undo Reagan's legacy, our 40th President may have the last laugh as Americans react badly to Obama's big government bender.

Let's examine where the Obama, Pelosi, Reid regime have taken us thus far. With utter disdain for public opinion, they rammed Obamacare through with unprecedented trickery, bribery and deceit. Obama wants higher education to be free of charge which is why he is pushing for a government takeover of student lending. He is encouraging young people to pursue careers in government rather than the private sector and thus building a cadre of Democratic voters espousing his Socialistic agenda. The recently unveiled financial reform package is an open invitation for government to micro-manage the whole breadth of finance in America and brings us closer to nationalizing the U.S. Financial system. He is now sitting over the largest deficit in this country's history and is now proposing more stimulus spending. If the Administration has its way, Washington's tentacles will eventually extend over the entire economy. His latest fiasco and disdain for the American people was his support for the Muslim mosque next to ground zero in New York City.

We need dedicated volunteers who are fed up with the liberal policies and dangerous course the Democrats are forcing on us. It is time for Republicans to convince our fellow Republicans, Independents and Conservative Democrats to get to the polls and

TAKE BACK OUR COUNTRY.      Lorraine Tweed, President

Freedom is not free, and securing it is not a spectator sport.

We are either paying for freedom with support, sacrifice and service or we are free because someone else has paid the price for us.

A message from David Ruden, 6th District Chair.....My fellow Republicans

Right now stop what you are doing. Stop believing what the pundits are dishing out each day on the radio and each evening on the TV. I am not only including the MSNBCs, CNNs or the other Obama propaganda media, but I am including FOX, Beck, Hannity and even Rush. The wind is not behind our backs as is being preached even by some party officials. Don't believe this for a second. Remember these people are in it for making money, big money, and not the Republican Party or our local candidates. I will say I am glad the Hannitys, Becks and such are on our side, however. Never allow for complacency or be lulled into the comfort zone somewhere. We win on our own accord, not pundits.

That being said, this is the most important election in both the 20th and 21st Century and anything can and will happen. All politics are local and can change on the spin of a dime. We cannot allow ourselves to sit back and ponder "how wonderful it will be when we have a Republican Congress and a Republican NC General Assembly on November 3rd.

To win this election Republicans must work smart and work hard at being smart. Use every tool and weapon in our arsenal....media, internet, use of technology, precinct smarts, every use of what works to win. That old line "but that's how we have always done it before" doesn't mean a thing if the how we did it is useless when it comes to winning modern day elections. As Republicans, we need to focus on winning every election before the 1st Tuesday in November or early voting. This is how the Dems did it in '08, and we must always beat them to the punch from now on! No more defense.....only offense, ground game or in the air we must win! We have got to work as a unified body with no divisions.

Every day we need to believe the Democrats are on our heels and closing in.....and they will be! Take nothing for granted. Republicans must help Republicans win this 2010 election. Obama and his band of cutthroats must be taught a lesson that this is the USA, and we are giving notice that his days of destruction, corruption and lying are numbered. We deal with what we have in the 2010 election with a strong finish.

Putting the importance of the election in a WWII military perspective. 2010 is Operation Overlord,D-Day. The beach must be taken at all cost, a prelude to the next election. 2012 is the taking of Berlin completely!

IS THIS A GREAT COUNTRY OR WHAT!!!

This morning I went to sign my dogs up for welfare. At first the lady said, "Dogs are not eligible to draw welfare". I explained to her that my dogs are mixed in color, unemployed, lazy, can't speak English and have no clue who their daddies are. They expect me to feed them, provide them with housing and medical care, and expect me to feel guilty because they are dogs.

So she looked in her policy book to see if they qualify.....

They get their first checks on Friday!

ATTENTION PLEASE: IMPORTANT NOVEMBER 2 VOTING INFORMATION

excerpted from The Pilot editorial of September 8, 2010:

Absentee Ballots: Absentee ballots for the Nov. 2 general election are now available by mail. One-stop absentee voting will begin Thursday, Oct. 14. The registration books will be closed on Oct. 8 in preparation for the election.

"Something new in the election"

In the run-up to last June's Democratic runoff for U.S. Senate, we wondered whether the whole thing was worth it. In the statewide May primary election, no candidate for the Democratic Senate nomination got a majority. Nobody even got the 40 percent of the vote which is the cutoff the legislature established in 1989. So the law required that the election machinery swing into action with a second election on June 22 pitting Elaine Marshall against Cal Cunningham.

Locally, as it turned out, a grand total of 1,270 of Moore County's 32,929 eligible voters went to the polls, in line with averages across the state. County Elections Director Glenda Clendenin has said, "we have had precincts where the only people who voted were the precinct workers.

The subject of the day is whether there's a better way, or a less bad one. One would be to drop the cutoff from 40 to say 30 or 35, but that is already arbitrary enough. The only remaining option that makes sense is the so-called "instant runoff" under which voters in the first and only primary would designate both No. 1 and No. 2 and maybe even No. 3 choices. Then, if no one went over the top, elections officials would determine the winner by factoring in the runners-up. Clendenin was quoted as favoring such a system.

Now the runoff is about to undergo its first statewide test. In the Nov. 2 election, the voter will encounter something new on the ballot: a list of 13 candidates for the state Court of Appeals. Beside their names will be three columns: A, B and C. You will need to mark your first choice in Column A, and you'll have the option of marking other names in the other two columns. Electronic counting machines will tally the votes in Column A. If nobody gets 40 percent, the computers will come up with a winner by taking the other columns into consideration. Don't ask me how. It's not perfect, but it ought to be quicker and cheaper, and it's worth a try.

Words of wisdom from Gina Brown: William John Henry Boetcker (1873-1962) was an American religious leader and influential public speaker.

- You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. - You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the poor - You cannot help little men by tearing down big men - You cannot lift the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer - You cannot help the poor by destroying the right - You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money - You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred - You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn - You cannot build character and courage by destroying men's initiative and independence - And you cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they should do for themselves.
Boetcker also spoke of the "Seven National Crimes": I don't think, I don't know, I don't care, I am too busy, I leave well enough alone, I have no time to, I am not interested.

The last refuge of a liberal (August column excerpts by Charles Krauthammer, Washington Post)

Liberalism under siege is an ugly sight indeed. Just yesterday it was all hope and change and returning power to the people. But the people have proved so disappointing. Their recalcitrance has, in only 19 months, turned the predicted 40-year-liberal ascendancy (James Carville) into full retreat. Ah, the people, the little people, the small-town people, the "bitter" people, as Barack Obama in an unguarded moment once memorably called them, clinging to "guns or religion or" - this part is less remembered - "antipathy toward people who aren't like them."

That's a polite way of saying, clinging to bigotry. And promiscuous charges of bigotry are precisely how our current rulers and their vast media auxiliary react to an obstreperous citizenry that insists on incorrect thinking.

- Resistance to the vast expansion of government power intrusiveness and debt. (Racism)
- Disgust and alarm with the federal government's unwillingness to curb illegal immigration as crystallized in the Arizona law. (Nativism)
- Opposition to the most radical redefinition of marriage in human history, as expressed in Prop 8 in California. (Homophobia)
- Opposition to a 15-story Islamic center and mosque near Ground Zero (Islamophobia)

Now we know why the country has become "ungovernable", last year's excuse for the Democrats failure of governance: Who can possibly govern a nation of racist, nativist, homophobic Islamophobes?

Note what connects these issues. In very one, liberals have lost in the court of public opinion. Majorities oppose President Obama's social-democratic agenda (e.g., the stimulus, Obamacare, support the Arizona law, oppose gay marriage and reject a mosque near Ground Zero.

What's a liberal to do? Pull out the bigotry charge, the trump that preempts debate and gives no credit to the seriousness and substance of the contrary argument. The most venerable of these trumps is, of course, the race card.

Then comes Arizona. It seems impossible to the left to believe that people of good will could hold that (a) illegal immigration should be illegal, (b) the federal government should not hold border enforcement hostage to comprehensive reform, i.e. amnesty, (c) every country has the right to determine the composition of its immigrant population.

As for Proposition 8, is it so hard to see why people might believe that a single judge overturning the will of 7 million voters is an affront to democracy? And that seeing merit in retaining the structure of the most ancient and fundamental of all social institutions is something other than an alleged hatred of gays, particularly since the opposite gender requirement has characterized virtually every society in all the millennia until just a few years ago?

And now the Mosque at Ground Zero. The intelligentsia is near unanimous that the only possible grounds for opposition is bigotry toward Muslims. This smug attribution of bigotry to two-thirds of the population hinges on the insistence on a complete lack of connection between Islam and radical Islam, a proposition that dovetails perfectly with the Obama administration's pretense that we are at war with nothing more than "violent extremists" of inscrutable motive and indiscernible belief.

It is the measure of the corruption of liberal thought and the collapse of its self-confidence that, finding itself so widely repudiated, it resorts to the cheapest race-baiting (in a colorful variety of forms). Indeed, how can one reason with a nation of pitchfork-wielding mobs brimming with "antipathy toward people who aren't like them" - blacks, Hispanics, gays and Muslims - a nation that Michelle Obama once put it succinctly. "Just downright mean"?

The liberals undisguised contempt for the great unwashed prevents them from conceding a modicum of serious thought to those who dare oppose them....
