

Highlights from October luncheon

Our once-again sold-out luncheon at CCNC featured guest speakers who energized and encouraged us for the upcoming election. All of the speakers exhorted us not to believe the polls - believe in the energy and excitement throughout the state for Republican candidates. Take heart, vote and pray!

[Note, one of our featured speakers, Cleta Mitchell, was unable to make it to our luncheon because she felt she should self-quarantine out of an abundance of caution, having attended the Amy Coney Barrett nomination ceremony at the White House.]

Tim Moore, NC Speaker of the House, said that NC is the #1 state targeted by Democrats because of the Senate race, governor's race, and both chambers of NC General Assembly up for grabs. That's why so much out-of-state money is flowing into NC - but NC is not for sale! Moore County is in good shape, but there's an absolute dogfight for 5 state Senate races, while 6-7 state House seats are seriously in play. It's a choice between common sense and radical leftism.

Hal Weatherman, campaign manager for Dan Forest, told us not to believe the polls - believe in the reality of how people are reacting to Forest's campaign. Over last 3 months, every campaign item has disappeared off the shelves - signs, tee shirts, etc. All of Forest's events are packed. He compared Forest to David vs. Goliath (a non-politician who started off with nothing vs. a political creature). Let's slay Goliath!

Zach Almond, Campaign Manager for Dan Bishop and private pollster, said the polls are all wrong, so ignore them! Just get out an vote.

Emily Grace Raines has started a Facebook page, Moore County Citizens for Freedom. Check it out!

MRW once again honored and thanked law enforcement personnel, with many representative officials invited to our luncheon.

Voting information

Early voting starts next week on October 15

If you want to vote in person, you can do so between October 15 - 31 at the following locations: Aberdeen Recreation Station, the Carthage Agricultural Center, the new Pinehurst Community Center and the Vass Town Hall. Get addresses, dates and hours of operation here.

Voter registration deadline is TOMORROW!
